Today's Q&A is on:

- Finding a book topic
- Establishing Proof of Concept for your book topic

*** General questions will resume on the next Q&A. ***

OPEN Q&A

Submit your Topic or Proof of Concept questions live on the call in the Zoom Q&A field. We will pick and choose the best questions to answer.

The logo consists of the letters 'FYI' in a bold, white, sans-serif font, centered on a blue rectangular background that has a slightly distressed or torn-edge appearance.

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

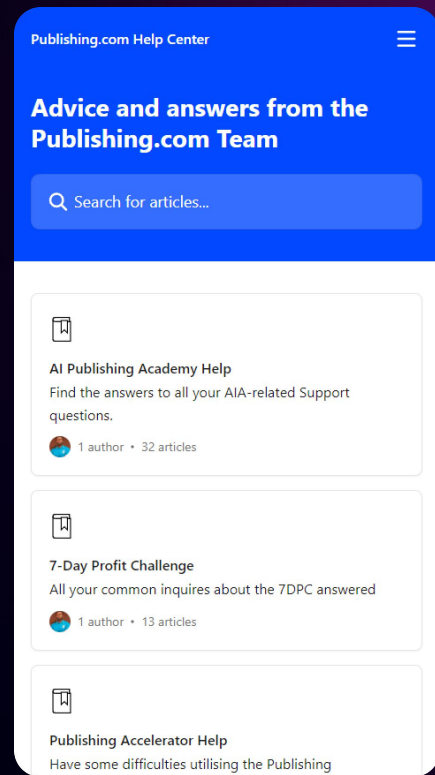

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

F.A.Q.

Visit our Help Center at help.publishing.com

- Account related (resetting password, Facebook group, etc.)

TOPIC RULES :)

- Each student is allowed to submit two topics for proof of concept (POC) testing by coaches.
- If a student submits more than two topics, the two most “specific” topics submitted will be considered for POC testing.
- This approach ensures that more students have the opportunity to receive feedback on their topics
- As coaches, our goal is to develop your skills, enhancing your comfort and confidence in navigating the proof of concept process.

- I have reviewed reviewed POC module twice and reviewed the recorded Topics POC workshops by Brian within Accellerator. The process to determine Topic POC with KDSpy is clear; however I am challenged finding topics that actually meet the POC requirement - especially if I subniche down. Two questions: 1. I think I need guidance in the ART of paraphrasing, subniching or keyword identification to get topics to meet POC. 2. I have tested over 70 topics and have only identified 3 topics that meet the POC standards. Is that ratio of searches to results typical or must I be doing something wrong? Trying to determine if I need to learn a technique to get better results or if I need to right size my Topics POC results expectations.
- Thanks

Hi, I would appreciate if you could say if my topic "Attachment Styles" is POC. There are quite similar topics, but not just like mine. My whole topic and subtopic could be: Attachment Styles made Easy:A Practical Guide How to Identify, Heal, and Strengthen Your Relationships Using Attachment Theory and Proven Solutions for Secure, Healthy Bond

Anthony Arcee

I have a topic that passed proof of concept, but the competition for the exact topic is One other author with many books on the same topic. He may or may not be a well-known author I am not sure. What should I do?

Hi coaches,

Please I am have ran a POC on these topics:

1. Divorce "books" for women
2. Divorce "guide" for women...The KDSpy search comes with different revenue levels but almost the same book that pass POC. Please can you help if they are potential or I can use different word. The difference is the word guide and books. thanks

Forget about my last question about the region in amazon when searching book topics - I got my answer in the proof of concept lesson. thank you

So, when I open an incognito window amazon still says - deliver to Canada - how do I cancel that? Is it important?

Hi coaches!

I think I'm finally closing in on my target subjects for my 2 first 30k books, and would love your feedback on them. I tested for POC and these 2 passes: "Shadow work workbook for Self Love" and "Vagus nerve exercises". (I checked if the books that I counted were 30k books, and not journal pages or pictures of exercises etc and that they were published longer than 60 days ago in addition to the basic criteria of less than 150 reviews and 500$ in revenue.) However, would you say that these 2 passes the criteria for "good topics", or do they still need improvement?

Can't join live today unfortunately, but will definitely listen tomorrow!

Thank you so much in advance, highly appreciated!

Jacob

We have found a POC within Emotional Intelligence, but as we have progressed through the “prohibited keywords” in module 3, we have discovered that this is could cause friction as a trademarked word. What is your advice on proceeding with this subject, as it has passed POC?

Sara Morse

One of the Book Departments approved is Religion and Spirituality. Using every tool in the course I cannot find one topic in this department that passes POC. Can you give some advice?

Wendy Caesar

When searching for POC, I looked on the Amazon list under Self-Help, then Motivational, and found my niche in the books there! But in the Publishing.com list of subject categories, under Self-Help, there is no Motivational category. Does this mean that this kind of book wouldn't be accepted?

Wendy Caesar

In KDSpy, there were 3 books in the Self-Help/Motivational list with under 150 reviews and over $500 a month. Then it jumped to 174 reviews, 1079, and way beyond, plus monthly revenue in the thousands down the whole page, indicating a lucrative niche. Those first books were published during this past week, though, and a fourth in August. In spite of these rule-breakers, would this niche be worth pursuing, given the very high numbers in the Revenue column for almost every book?
