The logo consists of the letters 'FYI' in a bold, white, sans-serif font, centered on a blue rectangular background that has a slightly distressed or torn-edge appearance.

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

TOPIC RULES :)

- Each student is allowed to submit two topics for proof of concept (POC) testing by coaches.
- If a student submits more than two topics, the two most “specific” topics submitted will be considered for POC testing.
- This approach ensures that more students have the opportunity to receive feedback on their topics
- As coaches, our goal is to develop your skills, enhancing your comfort and confidence in navigating the proof of concept process.

Dear Coach, Good day to you!

I'm seeking your advice on choosing the best topic for my book. I am particularly interested in focusing on emotional regulation and resilience. Could you help me to see which one has best (POC) proof of concept by using KDSPY? , I would love to hear your thoughts on which topic might be the most suitable. Here are the topics I'm considering:

- 1- Creative Expression as a Path to Healing: This book explores the therapeutic benefits of creative expression, introducing various outlets such as writing, painting, and music as tools for emotional healing, self-discovery, and personal growth, to build a foundation of inner strength and resilience.
2. Self-Compassion for Women: This book delves into self-compassion as a transformative tool for women, offering techniques to cultivate kindness towards oneself, navigate life's challenges with grace, and build a foundation of inner strength and resilience. Should I mention women in my title ? What I learnt from the course is yes, because it indicates your audience population?

Thank you very much for your guidance!

Do you know of a service that could help you find a POC book/ Also - if you can't find a topic in something that you really know , how do you get one written in the other areas (Sorry the question mark is broken)
