The logo consists of the letters 'FYI' in a bold, white, sans-serif font, centered on a blue rectangular background that has a slightly distressed or torn-paper edge effect.

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

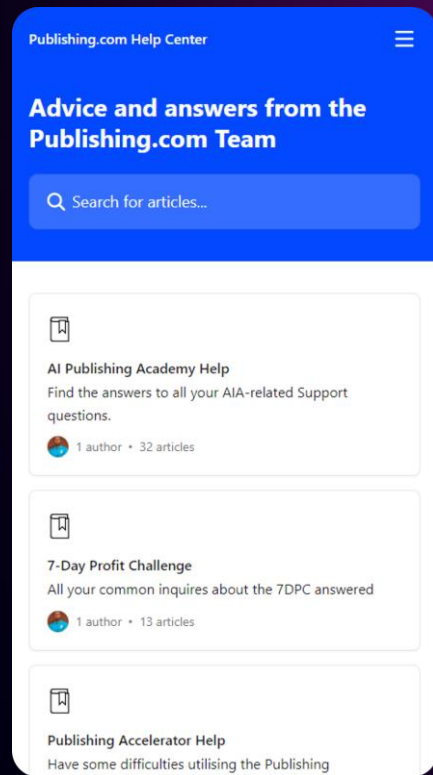

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

I received the Cookbook Template when I first signed up. It worked well for me in Canva, all I did was fill in my own info. Once I download it, the PDF print looked good.

However, I then uploaded it into KDP. The template did not transfer over to KDP. The best way for me to show you this is by screenshot. Let me know if I can send it, or if you already understand the question.

Is there any chance of success with a book of poetry dealing with spirituality?

How do I get access to the free coaching calls today and tomorrow?

Terry

I hired my GW this week. She has written the Introduction. When I told her I was reading it today, she said:

"this is a work in progress and not the final copy so line-by-line editing is not necessary at this stage - rather it is for you to advise me if I am including the information you wanted there. I am following the outline you provided so I should be on track"

Is this right? I thought the course said to give input and suggest changes as the book is written.

I am working on getting reviews from Facebook groups. All of the groups I have joined have stated in their rules that there is no self promotion of any blogs, books, websites, etc. I don't know how to work around this. My book is about Alzheimers and Dementia. I have already had the 2 admins I contacted deny my request to make a post
