Open Q&A

Submit your questions live on the call in the Zoom Q&A field. We will pick and choose the best the questions to answer.

FYI

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

How long do you think this business model will be profitable for? Do you think the most profitable niches will eventually get eaten up, after which it will become even harder to profit from published books? Kind of like a gold mine where the big chunks have already been mined out -- you can technically still make money from the medium sized kernels if you mine out lots of them.

EJ

When we look for POC, why is it that three books making just over $500 in monthly revenue will count as a stronger proof of concept than two books that are making thousands in monthly revenue? My intuition tells me to go into the niche where there are the two books making heck of a lot of profit.

Pepper Pratt

Topic/title feedback. I THINK I have POC, but it seems to change with KDSPY at times. I see POC when I run Results 21-41. I may be overthinking. Key words I've entered are "marriage help", "conflict resolution", "marriage books", "strong marriage".

Title is ReDiscover Us: A SMART and simple roadmap to help calm conflict, cultivate closeness and make your marriage strong

Any feedback would be appreciated.

Would it be bad for sales (ranking, reviews, profit) if I would publish a book without adding a resource chapter ?

Jake

Hi coaches, I had a question about my title. I have been joining the Q@A calls and sending in a question about how my title can get improved. But the problem is that I feel like I keep delaying the book. My manuscript is totally done., so I feel stuck. My book is about camping in national parks, and my title is-THE ULTIMATE GUIDE TO CAMPING IN NATIONAL PARKS Subtitle-59 ESSENTIALS FOR CAMPFIRE COOKING, BACKPACKING, FAMILY CAMPING, HIKING GEAR, AND PREPARING FOR EMERGENCIES. I would like to know if I should keep joining the calls to keep improving it or if I should stick with what I already have and go with that for my title. The keyword is camping in national parks. thanks

Just wondering, do redeemed codes on Audible show up as a sale in ACX dashboard?

Ron

When creating an author description for our book, are we allowed to have ChatGPT to create one for us even if it says we're a doctor in that field of study?

Hello there!,

I am working on the 7 day challenge!, I just started in the academy so I haven't gone through the modules since the advice was to start with the challenge before getting started with the full process of the modules..

In this challenge, (I am in day 4) Rasmus do the exercise with you, but he seems to do all the writing from his own head... due to my topic requires lots of research, I've been using chatGPT a lot... is that ok? do I need to do any kind of reference?

I am sure this must be explained in the course at some point, but haven't gone that
