FYI

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

While completing my customer research worksheet, another coach mentioned he looks at 5-10 best seller books on Amazon on his topic and gathers data from the reviews. Does it matter if these books are authoritative figures or not? I feel a bit intimidated but yet motivated by some of the good material I am finding.

When completing required workshops on the PA worksheet before 1 on 1 coaching calls, does it matter if they are live or recorded views? I know the live interaction is important but some of the workshops are not available soon enough.

I have a book topic "mediterranean diet" which has a POC but the term is trademark. If I put in mediterranean diet cookie a trademark comes up but its dead. My question is since mediterranean diet is trademark by adding cookie or another word and that word not showing up as a trademark this is a topic I can have a book written about?
