FYI

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

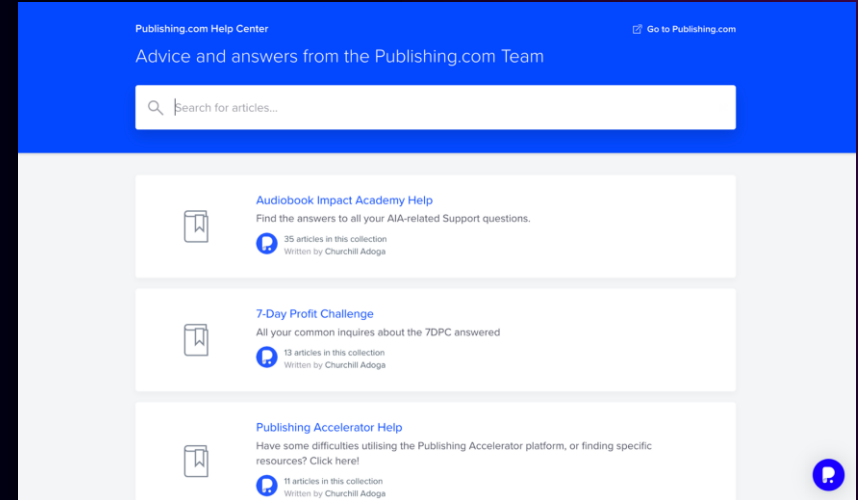

Most Frequently Asked Q&A Questions:

In the Help Center, you will find clear answers (with videos) to all of these questions, so we will likely skip all questions related to these topics.

Happy Friday! Thank you so much for being here to answer questions and help us succeed in publishing! Probably most everyone has seen this notification came up on KDP awhile back. "Printing costs will change on June 20, 2023

While not required, you may choose to update your list prices to avoid a change in royalties. You can update your list prices at any time individually on the Pricing tab or, until June 19, 2023, you can run a one-time bulk list price update on your live paperback and hardcover list prices to continue earning the same royalties after printing costs change. Learn about printing cost changes." What is your advice on how to handle these changes? As far as whether we should update prices and how to figure out by how much? Whether the one-time bulk list price is a smart move and how that works? And anything else you think we should know and consider about this?

End of Q&A Questions!
