There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

Amazon Ads - I am only selling a book a day and kinda confused as to why and what I should do. Any help would be so appreciated.

1. I have 167 reviews
2. Published in January
3. 4.8 rating
4. Under 40% ACOS
5. Bids are really high in my niche.
6. Should I just put all my money in the most profitable keywords even if the bids are high?

The prices on TUW have increased and no longer match the prices shown in the modules (discount code included). Why have the videos remained the same as if the prices had never increased?

I've uploaded my project on 99 Designs, got a bunch of designs but they all look so corny! My book is about SQL programming, I checked on Amazon and most of the books about this topic have similar if not same cover as the ones they proposed on 99 Designs. Don't know what to do, I cannot just trash them all (or can I lol). I got some original ones but they don't look very appealing, please help

In reference to the Low Content Kick Starters, about how many words are written to create an audiobook at least an hour long (assuming an even flow with little extended think time)?

Terri

I found a ghostwriter that I really like and asked her to do a zoom call. She came back stating that she would prefer to do it written so if there are any questions going forward we can go back to use it as a reference or for clarity. She also asked for a contract. I looked at the reviews and she has excellent reviews. Is this common??
