OPEN Q&A

Submit your questions live on the call in the Zoom Q&A field. We will pick and choose the best the questions to answer.

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

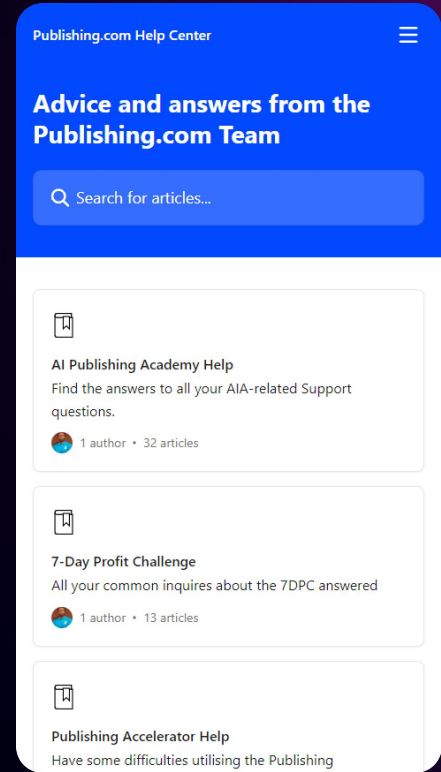

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

Can you please help me understand more about the choice of trim size? I know 6x9 is what's recommended, and that choosing 6x9 over 5.5x8.5 means fewer pages and therefore less printing costs (and higher profit). I'm working on my 7-Day Challenge book. I'm wondering if a 6x9 trim size will make the book too thin? Can you say more about best practices for trim size on both the 7DPC book and our full-length books? It seems like a super-thin book will disappoint customers. Thank you.

I dont understand how we are supposed to add the ASIN to the review request links if the book is already formatted. Should we create the product listing first so we have the ASIN to add to the link- then format and go back to KDP later to upload? And what if we find mistakes later after using Ultimate Book Formatting, can we open it in a formatting software and edit it ourselves? What is the best way to handle this?

Recommendations for finding an illustrator? I am having difficulty finding one to fit my presentations.

I have spent three whole days looking for topic ideas. I used the 100+ Book Topics. I understand the idea behind the number of reviews and the revenue. I agree whole heartedly with it. I'm just having a very hard time finding the perfect numbers x3 books in a topic. My experience was one book made the cut , $500./month with 150 reviews, maybe. Most of the time there were none. I felt sorry for all the authors. I know the amount of work and hope they put into their books. I am looking at the 7 days for $1.00 for topic ideas from Publishing ai. What do you think? I'm low on funds and slow with computer technical things. Thanks for your thoughts. Pat

Hi Coaches. I was wondering on the book cover, if I can put photo of me or pic of my husband and I, in front of the book cover, instead of random picture of people. We are published Authors, we published regular soft cover books in 8-9 years ago. My book I am writing with publishing.com is on "conflict resolution for couples"
