SPECIAL SEGMENTS

Special Segment!

Today's Q&A is on:

- Finding a book topic
- Establishing Proof of Concept for your book topic

 General questions will resume on the next Q&A. ***

OPEN Q&A

Submit your Topic or Proof of Concept questions live on the call in the Zoom Q&A field. We will pick and choose the best questions to answer.

The logo consists of the letters 'FYI' in a bold, white, sans-serif font, centered on a blue rectangular background that has a slightly distressed or torn-edge appearance.

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

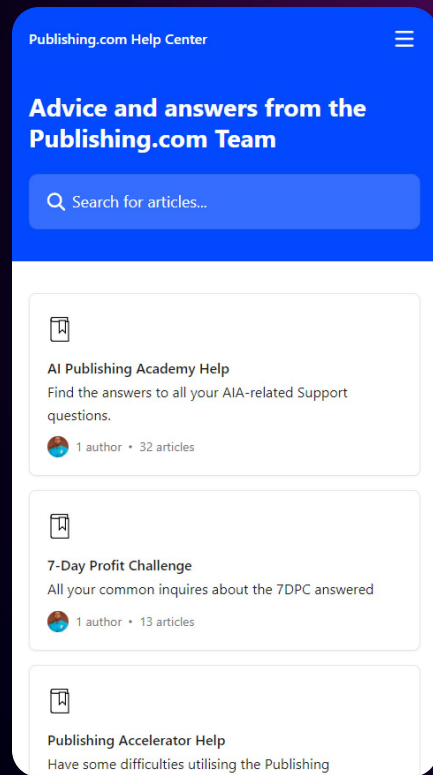

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

F.A.Q.

Visit our Help Center at help.publishing.com

- Account related (resetting password, Facebook group, etc.)
- KDSpy, incognito, Chrome etc.
- 7 Day Profit Challenge
- Pen names

In the Help Center, you will find clear answers (with videos) to all of these questions, so we will likely skip all questions related to these topics.

How To Find A Topic

What IS a Book Topic?

A good book topic:

Solves a specific problem, solved in a specific way for a specific group of people

- Clearly state what the book is actually about
- Terms people are searching on Amazon
- Specific (not vague)

Good book topic = usually between 2 - 6 words

Who Said You Can't Stay Fit and Healthy As You Grow Up?

Unfortunately, the body's balance, coordination, and ability to bounce back from injuries weaken as you age. That is why implementing regular exercise in your daily routine is essential to prevent fall incidents, strengthen your body and improve your overall well-being.

Does this mean you have to spend your money on fancy equipment or overpriced gym memberships?

Of course not!

Presenting "SIT, STRETCH, AND STRENGTHEN: A 14-DAY CHAIR EXERCISE PROGRAM FOR SENIORS" by Jordan Frank!

This game-changing book presents a 14-day chair exercise plan specifically designed for seniors. The book explains the benefits of exercise in detail while walking you through everything you need to perform the program safely in the comfort of your home.

TOPIC RULES :)

- Each student is allowed to submit two topics for proof of concept (POC) testing by coaches.
- If a student submits more than two topics, the two most “specific” topics submitted will be considered for POC testing.
- This approach ensures that more students have the opportunity to receive feedback on their topics
- As coaches, our goal is to develop your skills, enhancing your comfort and confidence in navigating the proof of concept process.

After I have found POC for a topic, how do I tell if the topic is in a saturated market with lots of competition

Steve Mattos

I have a technical book idea that passes POC it is "Risk Management for Medical Devices" which is the field I work in. The number of reviews is very low, while the number of books over 500$ month are rather high. Does our POC concept work with technical books? Anything else to be aware of for technical books?

My book idea meets the POC requirements. It is a technical book regarding risk analysis in medical devices. Is there anything different I should consider in doing a POC or other analysis on tech books?

Hi. I have been listening to other Q & A sessions during the week and having conflicting advice about steering away from doing exercise type of book for our 30k first book because of the competing with having illustrations videos involved. Last week the advice from Thursday POC session on topic 'Somatic exercise' was rather encouraging which is to outsource the illustration or videos. What to do?

Another topic I found that meet POC which is 'Life Skills for Young Adults' is stated to be over saturated as well by the other Q&A session. Looks like topics that meet POC are mostly over saturated. It is very hard to find topics without the red flags, I feel my creativity is shot.

Johanna

Does the topic always have to say who the topic is addressed to? For example "for beginners", "for women" or "for teens"? The lessons talks about "gut health" as a topic. Then can for example "Chat GPT" or "Homesteading" be topics too?

I liked "Homesteading" for my topic and it got POC on your previous Q&A call, but can I use that topic to move on or should I nich it down?

Zelda Okia

Deciding between POC of "Emotional Eating" or POC of "Food for Thought" to marry with a book theme of Sustainable Weight Loss Through Self-Love

Akasha Kaur Khalsa

Do you have any suggestions for making my topic narrower? I just signed up a week ago. My first chosen topic, "metabolism and health", borders on diet plans, which I don't want to do. I want the exercise angle emphasized. There is proof of concept.

Robin Hall

Hello Coaches! Thank you for everything!

I am just starting to write my book, and wondering if you could help me do a POC, with a title, something along the line of "Alterations for Beginner"? I'm still pretty fresh at this, and have gone to the software (Amazon in cognito, pulling up KDSpy), but not sure if I did it correctly. I wasn't able to find reviews under 150 and title may need to be changed for better POC! Help!
