OPEN Q&A

Submit your questions live on the call in the Zoom Q&A field. We will pick and choose the best the questions to answer.

The logo consists of the letters 'FYI' in a bold, white, sans-serif font, centered on a blue rectangular background that has a slightly distressed or torn-edge appearance.

There are many students on this call, all at different points in their publishing journey. We receive many questions and do our best to choose the ones that are applicable and helpful to the majority of attendees on this call.

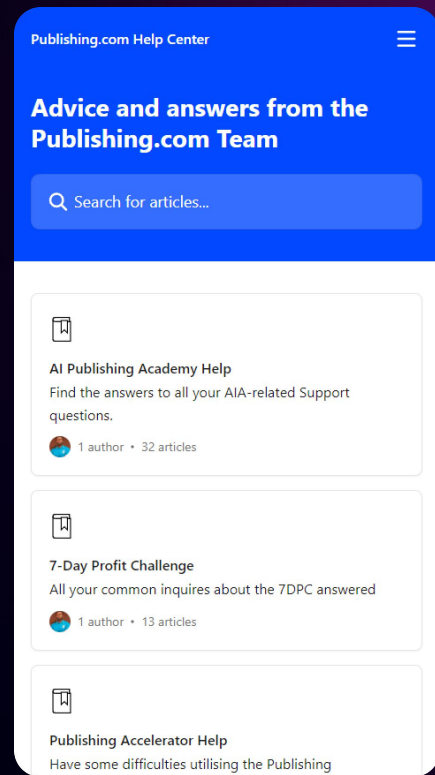

We would rather spend more time going deep into a good question rather than rushing from one question to the next. Therefore, we will pick and choose the best questions.

I'm getting ready to launch my first book on early career planning. Can you explain why Private Facebook groups are better for reviews? The big and active groups in my niche seem to be public.

Brenda Wollenberg

Thanks for the, as always, no BS feedback last week. Per Brian's suggestions, I spoke clearly and politely with 100 BookCovers, and just received three much better cover options.

Feedback appreciated! Thanks!

Do I have to outsource or advertise my marketing? Or is that in the program? If so, where is it? Also, is something wrong with the KDP reports? Because I can see my orders, just not the estimated royalties. I tried to contact amazon, but I read something on their page saying that there's a new version coming on November 11th. Maybe that is the reason why? What do I do?

Thank you ahead of time :) Please give me honest feedback on this book title.

Hi. Is there a maximum number of books that could be published in one year ?

Rachel Marie

Hey guys!

I'm onto my book outline, and a few questions have come up with regards to cookbooks/incorporating images into the book.

First off, because the software will be generating recipes, do I have to do any adjusting/re-wording of the recipes to avoid copyright issues? I.e. if it pulls the recipe from some cook's website, does it automatically reword? And does the software generate references/resources accordingly?

Based on my customer research report, I definitely want to include images for the recipes in my cookbook for most if not all of the recipes. I understand the AI software does NOT provide images. Wondering your thoughts on how to incorporate images that obviously won't be the recipe products - do I just use images I believe to be somewhat reflective of that recipe? Is that even legal? It seems odd to put an image next to a recipe knowing that image isn't actually the product...What's recommended to provide that visual for the readers without offering a false representation? And how do I go about referencing those images?

Hi, could you please tell me how I could find someone who could help me with the reviews, marketing and advertising my book? Thank you!

I apologize for asking this question again, but I was on a call with my physician when they were on my question, so I was interrupted. I have Facebook on my iPad and iPhone, but not my computer. I forgot my password. And yes, I tried through my mobile iPhone/iPad, and they both asked me for my current password. Can I make another Facebook account on my computer separate from my iPad and iPhone? And can I still join the AIA Publishing Facebook group through my computer account, if need be? I've already joined AIA Publishing through this Facebook account (iPad); would it be redundant? Thanks for understanding.

How do I register for the Q&A sessions. This form is for the questions once I am in the zoom?

Hi Coaches, thank you for your good works. I am still doing my 7DPC. Is it okay if i have title and subtitle for my book? Secondly, What app can i use to generate book description for my book? Thirdly, do i need to upload the Table of contents along with the manuscripts for formatting in Reedsy? Fourthly, do i need to design a book cover for my book and get it ready before uploading the manuscripts in Reedsy? If yes, how and where do i go to get the cover ready? Thank you.

Hi there, I'd like to generate a few different outlines for my chosen topic, and decide later which one to pick. However publishing.ai doesn't allow me to save each outline under a different file name -- instead, each new outline replaces the one before it. Is there any other way I can save/use different outline options?

Rhea Jacobs

I saved my first book draft (30K) at amazon.com. I live in Canada. When i ordered a proof copy of the paperback, using platform as amazon.ca, that cart was empty.

Then i kept amazon.com as platform, that cart has my draft but it is not delivering to Canada. It is only delivering in the USA.

There is no support email address on KDP to help with this mystery. All links are dancing between the same pages.

I have only uploaded an e-book and paperback so far. I also followed the instructions of approving the previewer, before ordering the proof copy, and still same results on both platforms.

It is not just matter of proof copy, now i am worried that i will not be able to get my author copy too.

I have double-checked my identity on Amazon KDP account. It is set up as Canadian.

The citations in the manuscript just say (SOURCE #). When I read the statement that is being cited, it's not clear which reference it is being cited from. Is the number supposed to match the number of the source in the reference list? If so, it didn't seem to match. I have 2 pages of references, but I noticed that there are only 5 or 6 citations in the actual manuscript. Has anyone been challenged on the content or been at risk of plagiarism because something was not cited properly?

Hi coaches! Can you look at my book's description (made w/pub ai and edited)? I want to share a google doc file. It's 566 words long. Is there any such thing as a long description? Thanks for checking it out!

Once you have chosen the best sizing for your book and you opt to launch a cover design campaign, what is the typical timeline in which a cover design challenge should take?
